

Patreece Dade-Ohakam Bio

Patreece Dade-Ohakam stepped out by faith as a singer/songwriter with her debut single, "Redeemed," in the spring of 2019. This upbeat anthem, which she wrote and produced, has proven to be a resounding declaration of inspiration and victory in the lives of many. She has gone on to record other singles "Where's the Evidence," "Faith" and "You the One," the latter of which are collaborations with Christian hip hop artist both in and out of Texas. Excited about returning to the studio after a 2 year hiatus, she will soon be recording new inspirational music. A believer in discovering, stirring up and using one's gifts, Patreece is also a poet, spoken word artist, actor, choreographer, award winning state certified teacher of Language Arts, and the former host of the radio broadcast "Redeeming Fire". She holds a Bachelor of Arts in English with a double minor in Spanish and Speech Communications, as well as a Master's of Education in Teaching from the University of Texas at Arlington. She has traveled internationally to minister through song in West Africa and even met and married her husband there in 2021. Along with being a wife, she is blessed to be a mother to her amazing son Xander. She has been in the field of education many years and is currently an 8th grade English teacher at Roy Johnson Stem Academy in Everman ISD. In January, she was named the 2024 MLK Spoken Word Poetry Slam Champion. Soon, Patreece will be fulfilling a childhood dream of releasing her first book of poetry entitled "My Words Have Power."
